

TCB Review comments:

As the 20dB bandwidth measurement is to confirm that the signal remains within the allocated band, as the device complied when measured using a bandwidth wider than necessary there was no need to repeat with a narrower bandwidth. The lab has been advised that they should follow the guidance/requirements of ANSI C63 for bandwidth measurements.