Subject: Professional Installation Attestation.

To Whom It May Concern,

We, [Hangil Control], hereby declare that our product, [Industrial Radio Remote Receiver / HCR-830], complies with the antenna requirements of FCC Rule Part 15.203. The device is designed and manufactured such that the antenna system cannot be modified, replaced, or constructed by the general public. This device must be installed and maintained strictly by trained technical professionals.

The detailed justifications for professional installation are outlined below:

- 1. Marketing and Sales Channels: The product is not intended for the general consumer market and is not sold through standard retail channels. It is marketed and sold exclusively through authorized distributors, system integrators, or directly to commercial/industrial enterprise customers.
- 2. Professional Installation Requirement: The installation, alignment, and configuration of the device and its integrated/external antenna system require specialized technical knowledge, specific tools, and professional expertise. It involves complex RF environment assessment and regulatory compliance adjustments that cannot be performed by an average consumer.
- 3. Application and Maintenance: The product is designated solely for commercial, industrial, or specialized infrastructure environments. Any subsequent maintenance, troubleshooting, or modification of the antenna assembly must be executed exclusively by certified technical professionals authorized by [Hangil Control].

Therefore, the requirement for a unique antenna coupler or permanent attachment under Part 15.203 is satisfied via this professional installation justification.

Sincerely,

Ju-Han, kim
